1 of 1 people found the following review helpful. Skip this oneBy gkd425Absolute waste of money. This contains nothing but current watches. Nothing vintage, and very little one could call truly iconic. I mean, the Rolex section doesn't even have a Submariner! No Patek Philippe 5711, etc. The pictures are mostly stock photos from the manufacturers. It reads like a brochure. Very disappointing.0 of 0 people found the following review helpful.

Disappointing and expensiveBy CustomerTotally agree with the first comment-only the most current watches, extremely basic information, essentially brochure information you would get from the brand itself. And no Rolex Submariner which is unbelievable. Very expensive for what you get. I really only use it to get ideas for different designs in expanding my collection.

Wearing a watch is not only about the measurement and indication of time: it is also about a passion for design and of course elegance. This richly illustrated, finely crafted, book is a true watch-lover's bible with a panoramic tour of one thousand iconic watches. It explores all of the emblematic brands, the complex mechanisms and the beautiful designs which highlight the watch-makers' skills and dedication to perfection. From the great classics to modern masterpieces through to more affordable timepieces, there is something for every taste and style. A must-have for avid and experienced collectors, enthusiastic newcomers, and for anyone who has ever wished to stop, or even turn back, time. Each chapter begins with a short and detailed history providing an insight into each of the 71 famous brands. From Omega to Rolex and Hamilton to TAG Heuer, even the most passionate and knowledgeable watch aficionado will be intrigued by the origins of each watchmaker. Furthermore, every single one of the thousand watches is displayed with an individual photograph (taken by the author on site at each manufacturer) and precise information regarding the case and movement mechanism of the watch. There is also an indicative price scale listed beneath each watch, with prices ranging from under 565 USD to over approximately 56,500 USD.

About the Author French journalist and watchmaking consultant Vincent Daveau writes for professional watchmaking magazines and daily newspapers such as "Le Monde". He has authored several books on the history of watches and their technology.
