following review helpful. great sellerBy South Carolina Fatsgreat item AAAAAA+

The most common marks found on antique ceramics, 1600s to 1900s, hand-drawn and with identification and dates used. These are the marks that appear in today's market under ordinary conditions. Includes America before 1890, Austria, Belgium, Bohemia, China, England, France, Germany, Holland, Hungary, Italy, Japan, Portugal, Russia, Spain, Sweden, and Switzerland. Short entries give factory histories with names of relevant people and explanations of date markings.

A guide depicting all major (and many smaller) pottery manufacturers throughout the European region provides quite an incentive to avoid many hours scouring through countless identification references. All pottery dealers and enthusiasts will benefit from this handy volume, as it is indexed by the country of manufacture with all marks clearly shown and detailed with dates and city of origin. Presented in its original form from 1937, it has been updated to fit the needs of the modern collector. -- Book Description
