

#1646316 in Books 2015-04-27 2015-04-27Original language:EnglishPDF # 1 9.00 x .31 x 6.001, .0 #File

Name: 1626199604160 pages | File size: 70.Mb

Billy Yeargin

*ePub | DOC | audiobook | ebooks | Download PDF

[Read free ebook] A History of Burley Tobacco in East Tennessee Western North Carolina

A History of Burley Tobacco in East Tennessee Western North Carolina

Billy Yeargin : A History of Burley Tobacco in East Tennessee Western North Carolina before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised A History of Burley Tobacco in East Tennessee Western North Carolina:

0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. .By CustomerI ordered the book because I live in the area and my family was one of the early growers of tobacco. It was well written and the author certainly had done his research about the individuals he mentioned. It is historical factual and gives a detailed picture of how important tobacco was to the farmers and mountain people of East Tennessee. The individuals he chose to tell the "Tobacco" story were chosen because only they could tell the true facts about it's impact on their lives.0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Four StarsBy Bobbi's Booksgood book0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Four StarsBy S. F.Very good!

Burley tobacco revolutionized the industry in east Tennessee and western North Carolina. What started from two farmers planting white burley in Greeneville ignited an agricultural revolution and significantly changed crops, production and quality. Burley transformed the tobacco industry with new cultivation techniques and a shift from dark and flue-cured tobacco. By the 1990s, burley tobacco production in the region had drastically declined, and it is a tradition that few local farmers still practice. Agricultural experts Billy Yeargin and Christopher Bickers take a nostalgic look at the historic rise of burley tobacco and its gradual decline.

About the AuthorBilly Yeargin is the author of North Carolina Tobacco and Remembering North Carolina Tobacco. During his career in the tobacco industry, he has held various leadership positions in tobacco growers and sweet potato growers organizations. He is a member of the board of directors for the North Carolina State Capital Preservation Society and the Duke Homestead Education and History Corporation. Yeargin is currently a history lecturer at Duke University and other educational institutions.Christopher Bickers is a seasoned journalist who has dedicated much of his career to documenting agriculture. His work has been published in various agricultural magazines including Southeast Farm Press, Progressive Farmer and Tobacco International and he is co-author of an article in Journalism Quarterly. Bickers is also the writer and publisher of the Tobacco Farmer Newsletter.