Along Chautauqua Lake (Postcard History)

Karen E. Livsey, Dorothy E. Levin : Along Chautauqua Lake (Postcard History) before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Along Chautauqua Lake (Postcard History):

Karen and I graduated from High School together and I am so impressed with all of her wonderful photo finds! I love reading about the history of places I have known all my life! As I read about the little towns and villages around the lake that are all very familiar to me - I keep thinking - "I didn't know that!". 0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Jamestown book By turkeypbPurchased this book after seeing it in Jamestown, NY at a cousins home who recently purchaed at a book store. They paid more money. Husband loves this as he is from Jamestown.0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. low price.By Eden Attleeawesome and very well. best product I would recommend this to anyone looking for a good price on an essential tool for cooking great food at home. Would make a great gift too! fast and in time, SINDY very love it ,

Shortly after settlement began along Chautauqua Lake, steamboats furnished transportation and the first hotel catered to visiting hunters and fishermen. Families escaping the summers in the city soon followed to enjoy the cool, healthy air. Chautauqua Institution and Point Chautauqua both began as religious assembly grounds. Celoron Park, often called the "Coney Island of the West," and later Midway Park provided entertainment for families and attracted thousands of visitors who traveled by trolley and steamboat in the summer. Local residents and visitors alike enjoyed the parks, picnic groves, and assorted resorts along the lake. A century later, fish are still caught, boats still ply the waters, and families continue to enjoy everything Chautauqua Lake has to offer.

About the AuthorKaren E. Livsey is the librarian and archivist at the Fenton History Center-Museum and Research Center in Jamestown. A native of the area, she writes a newspaper column featuring different items from the collection at the Fenton History Center. Dorothy E. Levin has lived near Chautauqua Lake for her entire life. She and her family are avid postcard collectors, and she often travels to postcard shows to expand her collection.
