1 of 1 people found the following review helpful. A little disappointing.By Linda WernsingAppears to be a very good and thorough book. Although I never did find my particular doll house in it. Finally went to an antique appraiser website and paid for an appraisal. Not worth much at all... They should list more by year made in this book, not just the century.0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Five StarsBy CustomerAgain--Dian Zilner's book is a perfect collection of doll house and furniture for reference for the serious collector.0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Five StarsBy Gordon ScherckGreat help

This great reference features over 650 color photographs showing details of individual houses, several hundred pieces of furniture made of metal, wood, paper and plastic, and delightful full sets. Thoroughly researched information is provided for more than one hundred dollhouses, which date from 1900 to 1990 and range in size from the miniature Marx Newlywed model to the large Mego Walton Farmhouse. The biggest names in dollhouse manufacture are well represented -- from Bliss, Converse, and Schoenhut to Strombecker, Kilgore, Tootsietoy, Built-Rite, Renwal, Ideal, Plasco, Marx and many others. The book also includes a list of sources for securing dollhouses and furniture, addresses of publications in the field, and a comprehensive price guide.
