My bible when we can't remember somethingBy Cat GurinskyI study iaido and this book is great because what we learn in class is the same as what is in the book described in intricate detail. I really love using this book anytime I need to practice and can't remember a part of something, it's very detailed/descriptive. Lots of great information in here. I have the Kindle version, which is nice since I can search it very easily to find exactly what I'm looking for. Definitely recommend this to iaido practitioners.1 of 1 people found the following review helpful. ExcellentBy J. DavisGreat book. I have a few other Iaido books, but this one is the best of the bunch. I really enjoy that the kata images have another person as the opponent you are imagining in the kata. It has a great section on the history of the art and good content on the technique. Also, make sure that Muso Shinden is the style you are actually studying in your dojo.

Iaido is the classical Japanese discipline of drawing and cutting with the long sword in defense of an unanticipated attack, throwing off the blood and returning the sword to its sheath. It is the direct inheritor of techniques perfected by centuries of samurais whose lives and honor depended on their spirit and prowess. Babin brings together all the information needed to pursue a formal study of this art, including how to choose a sword, cut with it, take care of it and assume the clothing. He covers not only the basic moves and positions, but the entire curriculum of forms of the muso shinden ryu of iaido. Equally important, the author puts the art in its historic and social perspective, helping clarify for the reader the spiritual pathway the way of the sword offers. If you want to learn iaido, this is your textbook.

About the Author Richard W. Babin, BS, M.D., is a practicing surgeon who served two years active duty in the USAF as chief of head and neck surgery at Maxwell Field during the Vietnam conflict. His interest in the martial arts began with several years of judo in the 1960s in San Francisco. Upon entering private practice he began studying yang-style taiji, which he still pursues. He has practiced muso shinden ryu iaido for eight years and has been awarded the rank of Sandan by the All-U.S. Kendo Federation.
