Missions of Southern California (CA) (Postcards of America)

James Osborne : Missions of Southern California (CA) (Postcards of America) before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Missions of Southern California (CA) (Postcards of America):

1 of 1 people found the following review helpful. Old Missions of Southern CaliforniaBy Helen J. BattlesonTwenty one missions were built in southern California as part of the Spanish colonisation of the eighteenth century, from San Diego de Alcal in the south - the earliest to be constructed, in 1769. This book depicts the pictures in postcards as they were constructed along the way.

Beginning in 1769, the Spanish built a system of missions along the coastal El Camino Real, or Royal Road. These colonial outposts brought irreversible changes to the area's Native Americans. Many remain today as monuments to a vanished way of life.

About the AuthorIn this collection of vintage postcards, James Osborne explores southern California's missions from San Diego north through Santa Barbara County.
